

I am against removing or loosening the regulation that limits broadcast ownership. To allow more consolidation of our media will reduce the number of voices that are heard in debate and discussion, and undermine our democracy. There is already too much censorship of news taking place in our media outlets because of corporate ownership. As an example, one of our local stations that is owned by a national corporation (WB) is required to air nightly pieces where a national commentator expresses the company's views. It is an Orwellian and frightening example of the direction our country is taking.
